GLORIA FELDT, Bestselling author of No Excuses: 9 Ways Women Can Change How We Think About Power; Teen Mom who became Successful CEO; Acclaimed Expert on Women, Power, and Authentic Leadership; Inspiring Speaker who Motivates with Heart and Humor and Provides Practical “Power Tools” for Work and Life.

“Your presentation was excellent. I’ve already used “power to” versus “power over” as a mantra for other relationships and conversations. The response is like an awakening in the people who hear it.”

*Jennifer Brunner, former Ohio Secretary of State attendee at Elite Women Around the World
“Women Empowering Women” Conference*

Gloria Feldt’s expertise in women, power, and leadership comes from a deep well of frontline experience. Her personal journey from teen mom to president and CEO of the world’s largest reproductive health and advocacy organization, Planned Parenthood Federation of America, to best-selling author inspires both men and women. Named by Vanity Fair as one of “America’s Top 200 Women Leaders, Legends, and Trailblazers” and Glamour’s “Woman of the Year,” she’s helped pave the way for women to advance and believes this is women’s moment to achieve parity.

Her passion is to remove the last remaining obstacle: women’s learned resistance to embracing their own power. It’s why women are stuck at 18% of top leadership positions and why the loss of high-performing female employees keeps organizations from optimal success. Once women “stand in their power and walk with intention,” says Feldt, they can lead unlimited lives and reach parity from the boardroom to the bedroom for good—their own, and society’s as well.

Gloria has a unique understanding of the confluence of the personal and the political in leadership and American culture. That’s why People magazine calls her the “voice of experience.” Author of four books, she teaches “Women, Power, and Leadership” at Arizona State University and consistently offers fresh insight, inspiration, and practical “power tools.” These are takeaways that participants can instantly use as leadership skills, concrete solutions, and goal achievement plans.

Gloria has been widely quoted and published articles in the US media, including the New York Times, Washington Post, USA Today, The Daily Beast, and magazines including More, Elle and Ms. She has appeared extensively on television, including CNN, MSNBC, the Today Show, Good Morning America and The Daily Show. She writes two popular blogs, Heartfeldt and 9 Ways, and hangs out on social media far too much.

She currently serves on the boards of the Women’s Media Center, the Jewish Women’s Archive, and EmergeAmerica. She and her husband Alex Barbanell share a combined family of six children and 14 grandchildren; they live in New York City and Scottsdale AZ.

"The audience loved the interactive workshop format and your personal story...It was lively, animated, inspirational, a refreshing take."

*Nadia Chan, Director of Marketing,
San Francisco Chamber of Commerce*

"The best lecturer we've had in my four years on the lecture board."

Nick Goldberg, Co-President, Brown University Student Lecture Board

"An amazing, inspiring speaker who really knows what women need today."

Marcia Reynolds, Executive Consultant and Author of Wander Woman

"This was not a speech, it was a conversation, a storytelling, a wake-up call and an inspiration."

Joan Gerberding, Founder, Most Influential Women in Radio

"Gloria articulates all of this with tremendous alacrity and inspiration."

Watts Wacker, President of First Matter and Author of The Visionary's Handbook

"Thank you for tailoring your speech for this event (Center for Women in Law). Speakers often give speeches prepared for other purposes, and it shows. You did us the honor of researching our organization, and wove what you learned about our mission into your remarks effectively."

"How moved I was!"

Eve Ensler

"Gloria rocked the house at the AAUW national convention!"

Lisa Maatz, Director of Policy and Government Relations, American Association of University Women

"Part den mother, part businesswoman, part Mae West."
